Are you considering going to College?

Have you thought about the benefits of studying bilingually?

Employer surveys show that there is a shortage of workers with Welsh Language Skills, especially within the Health and Social Care, Childcare and Public Services sectors.

“

"It's essential that we have members of staff who can communicate through the medium of Welsh to a high standard so that we can ensure the best possible service for our customers."
Alun Shurmer, Welsh Water

Research collected from education systems in Canada, USA, Finland and Wales show that people who can speak two languages generally perform better in their studies and receive better exam and test results.

COUNTING THE BENEFITS

1

People who receive a bilingual education achieve just as well, if not better, in English as children who receive an English only education.

2

Employers are increasingly asking for bilingual skills whilst recruiting new staff.

3

The ability to speak more than one language develops a firm grounding in communication skills.

4

People who receive a bilingual education, on average, perform better in exams and tests.

Why not develop and make the most of your bilingual skills at College?
